

Vicmead Hunt Club

Centreville, Delaware

The renovation and seamless expansion of Vicmead Hunt Club sustains the scale and simplicity of an 18th century farmhouse, while expanding member facilities and housing two full commercial kitchens. The project was broken down into two phases: the construction of a new pool, and the 10,500 square foot renovation and addition to the existing clubhouse. Both were completed with minimal impact to the daily operations of the club and its members. The entire project was completed in 2007 after 24 months, and is valued at $3,500,000.
